

ISA POT

A humble presence.

Recognised for its impressive stature and oversized nature, the pot remains reserved — content taking up space, quietly and modestly. With near-perfect curves and a slightly porous texture, it exists between form and function, art and planter.

Each piece is moulded and shaped by hand, allowing minor blemishes to enhance the character. Throughout the drying process, the pot develops an off-white hue — an intended raw and unpolished finish.

Available in a series of three sizes.
