

MOREAU HANGING LIGHT

Evocative, evolving.

Drawing on classical floral forms, the piece is shaped through a hand-sculpted resin mould, allowing the structure to remain fluid and slightly irregular.

Layers of polymer plaster are applied by hand, brushed and worked across the surface to build texture and soften the form. Each application settles differently, creating subtle variation across the curves.

The result is an off-white finish that moves with the light, revealing depth and detail across its sculptural surface.
