

MONA

The sculptural feminine form.

She is the marrow, the essential element of the plot. An overwhelming size refined by a neutral palette and textural surface, reflecting the sweeping handiwork of skilled artisans – no two are the same. Expect an entryway to conversations and endless chatter.

Made from hand-pressed and hand-painted concrete, the object is touched from all angles by the master craftsman. It is finished with a white polymer plaster, resulting in a textured, grainy surface that celebrates asymmetrical brush strokes and individual marks.
